Governor General's Medal Presented To Norman Archer

Friday afternoon, October 26, the parents and friends in the Gore School District, east of Didsbury, gathered at the school for the presentation of the Governor General's Medal to Norman Archer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Crosby Archer.

Norman received the highest aggregate marks on his grade IX examinations in the Olds School Division, receiving five "honors" marks, and out of a possible total aggregate of 120 marks he made 115. The next highest mark was 389, made by Margaret Dyck of the New Salem school at Sunnyslope, and Beverly Wiggins of Didsbury and Marilyn Knights of Hartman at third place with 388 each.

The teacher at Gore school, Miss Dickie, arranged a program which consisted of a piano solo by Maxine Fulkert, a recitation by Kenneth Stiles, and a guitar duet by Mr. and Mrs. P. Hamm. Mr. Max Archie was chairman.

Mrs. B. Booker, who was Norman's teacher from the time he started school until he finished his grade nine, was present for the occasion and spoke words of congratulations, saying she missed the children in the "little country school" where she had taught so long. Mrs. Booker is now teaching in Didsbury Public School.

Mr. X. P. Crispo, superintendent of schools for the Olds Division, made the presentation of the medal to Norman. He said he expected great things in the lad's future and that with his ability, personality and physique, and growing up in this young country where new opportunities are opening up every day, he should go to the top of the ladder.

Norman thanked Mr. Crispo for the medal, and the friends in the district for the occasion. He said he could not have won the medal without the assistance of his teachers, Mrs. Booker, whom he then presented with a very beautiful comfort dish in appreciation of her help throughout his school years.

The ladies of the district served a delicious lunch at the conclusion of the presentation, with Norman's parents providing ice cream for the occasion.

600 Buffaloes Will Be Put On The Block

Canada's famous buffalo herd at Elk Island National Park, near Lacombe, Alberta, has again reached the grazing capacity of the fenced 75 square miles forming the park, and Resources Minister Winters announced that a tender had been awarded for the slaughter of 600 buffalo early this winter. The herd numbers approximately 1,425 animals, an increase of approximately 600 since 1948, when the herd was last reduced. Scientists of the Canadian Wildlife Service are of the opinion that the herd is overstocked and recommend the reduction and range management.

The tender of Burns and Co., of Calgary, has been accepted, the Minister stated, and the reduction in the herd will take place at a newly constructed abattoir in the Park, commencing December 1st.

The buffalo to be slaughtered will be predominantly males, including approximately 75 three-year-olds, 75 four-year-olds and 300 five-year-olds. The remaining one hundred and fifty will be five-year-old females.

Of the 600 heads resulting from the slaughter, 75 percent will be reserved for use by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and 50 for the Department. The remainder will be sold commercially.

Warm Weather Takes Snow But More Comes

Warm breezes from the west last Friday and Saturday and until Sunday morning brought a welcome change to the wintry weather of the previous week and took most of the snow, many fields being bare and grain starting to dry out. However, more light snow fell Monday night, although skies cleared off Tuesday afternoon and probably we will have a few sunny days.

Threshing is a standstill and hopes are dwindling for an early resumption of harvest operations.

While there is plenty of feed in the Didsbury district, most of it is still in stock or swath and very few farmers have clean fields on which to pasture and feed stock. Hammer mauls are being used to provide a suitable feed for cattle and unless the stocked grain dries out sufficiently to permit stacking of feed farmers will be digging out bundles for the rest of the winter, where the grain is in stock.

Curters are asked to place their names on the lists now posted in the waiting room of the curling rink. One half the rental charge will be paid by the curling club and the other half by the arena.

It is hoped to have at least 25 regular rinks in play during the curling season.

FIRST FALL MEETING OF SENIOR C.G.I.T. GROUP

The first organized meeting of the Senior C.G.I.T. got underway on October 28th with the election of officers. This year the presiding officers will be Florence Gilson, president; Shirley Bieder, vice-president; and Beulah Klink, secretary.

Leaders are Miss Margaret Hanson and Mrs. Laura Morgan.

Next week the roll call will be answered by the donating of an article for a towel kit to be sent to Missionary Centre to aid the needy.

An outline of the year's projects was drawn up.

The next meeting will be held in Knox United Church on Wednesday, October 31, at 7:00 p.m. instead of the usual time of 7:30, to permit Halloweening.

The meeting came to a close by the singing of "Taps."

MOTORISTS, FARMERS AND FLEETOWNERS

AN OIL FILTER IS STANDARD EQUIPMENT ON MOST AUTOS, TRUCKS AND TRACTORS

It not already installed by the manufacturer, the average dealer will put one on your auto, truck or tractor before he delivers it to you.

But OIL FILTERS require clean cartridges every time you change oil. And cartridges cost money.

The average oil filter cartridge is a one-time affair, which requires replacing every time you change oil in the motor, or at least every thousand miles, if you want to keep the oil clean.

OIL COSTS MONEY!

How often oil should be changed has been the subject of many articles in leading magazines, and the opinion generally accepted is that you are throwing away good money when you change the oil too often. This is why we want to tell you the story of the new everlasting "EZE-REPAK CARTRIDGE" for most every make of oil-filter.

REPAK OIL FILTER CARTRIDGE

Meet the new champ! The "EZE-REPAK" CARTRIDGE is a radical departure from ordinary refill cartridges. Once installed, it becomes part of your oil filter... it need never be thrown away. To renew the "EZE-REPAK" cartridge you simply remove the old cotton waste filler and re-pack with new. Costs about ten cents. Here at last is a truly modern repack oil filter cartridge. Simple yet straightforward in design, the "EZE-REPAK" is sturdily constructed of quality materials. It is made to last for years... not months. Made for every make and model of oil filter. Car truck and tractor owners will appreciate the plus features of this new champion among oil filter cartridges.

ECONOMY...

Change the waste cotton filler as often as you wish. Costs only Ten Cents (average) to renew! Prominent fleet operators in Alberta say: "We have been using your 'EZE-REPAK' Cartridges on all our trucks for some time. We find them very satisfactory and we can also report a considerable saving in our operations by getting away from the usual type filters."

CONVENIENT...

The "EZE-REPAK" fits into your oil filter chamber quickly and easily... No special tools required. Anyone can change the cotton waste filler in a few minutes. Service stations render this service for a small charge.

LONG LIFE...

The "EZE-REPAK" is sturdily built. It is made to last for years without replacement. It can always be changed from your old model to a newer one.

BETTER ENGINE PERFORMANCE...

A clean motor functions better than a dirty one. The "EZE-REPAK" Oil Filter Cartridge collects and screens out harmful dirt, sludge, metal and carbon particles. Protects machined surfaces and bearings. Assures continual flow of CLEAN oil to combat friction. Your Dip-Stick will always tell you when to change the filter.

PREDICTS LOWER PRICES

Cattle prices are abnormally high according to J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers, and he suggests that a declining trend will set in. Mr. McLean does not think that there will be any calamitous break such as occurred in 1920-21.

Argentina, Australia and New Zealand are selling their surplus beef for less than one-third of the North American price for corresponding quality, says Mr. McLean. He suggests that two such widely separate price levels for a basic food cannot be maintained permanently.

OLD AGE PROBLEM

Very shortly, according to reliable estimates, this country will have about two and one half million people aged 60 years or more. This fact—whether it comes because of the advances made by medical science to improve the individual's longevity or simply because better living and eating have combined to combat more successfully the ravages of disease—is a cheeful one, but it poses a problem: What do we do if these people are not satisfied with retirement and want to keep on working?

Certainly, a good percentage of them will not have to work. A combination of their own personal thrift through their productive years, plus industrial pension plan payments, plus an expected expansion in the government old age pension plan, will keep them going without the necessity of working. But there are plenty who will come in this category who won't want to quit. They will want to keep on working. They will not be—and some of them will never be until their dying day—mentally prepared to retire.

Then there are some who will be financially unable to quit working, but they will be faced with the prejudice against employing elderly people. Their self-respect and their normal functioning as human beings will be endangered. So will their health, because a lot of the fading away and deterioration that usually set in with old age are definitely attributable to enforced idleness.

One medical authority claims that society must find jobs for these older people who wish to continue working. This doctor, Robert T. Monroe, of the Harvard Medical School, has offered several ideas on the problem, but, in our opinion, his suggestion that a new approach to public thought about old age must be found is of vital importance.

When all's said and done, older people are normal in all essential respects to younger people. Just because a man has reached an arbitrary retiring age does not mean that he must refrain from pursuing anything but a short-range program. In fact, there's nothing to stop a retired man from being re-trained in some skill that would not only benefit him, but the community and the economy as well.

A plan that would bring willing elderly persons back into production could kill three birds with one stone: It would keep their costs to society within reasonable bounds; it would add to the country's wealth; it would make for happier older people. The last fact alone might contribute as much to greater longevity for Canadians as any further strides in medical science.

IT'S NEVER TOO SOON

A. M. Wilson, Alberta's Field Crops Commissioner, suggests that there will never be a better time than now for Alberta farmers to arrange for next year's seed. The pick of the crop can be selected at harvest, stored separately and saved for next year's planting. Where seed is of particularly good quality, two years requirements might well be held in reserve.

There is usually part of the crop better than the rest, and a little selection when threshing may make a great deal of difference in the quality of seed saved. In areas where cleaning plants have been established, grain intended for seed might be hauled to the plant directly. This will mean one less handling and an important start made towards next year's operations.

Don't neglect your seed grain requirements until spring, urges Mr. Wilson. Farmers who wait until then will find that the export market has absorbed the cream of the crop and will wish they had acted earlier.

M.V.B.C. NEWS

We welcome Myron Tweed into our midst again. Myron graduated last year but has returned to take work in the Music Department of the College this winter. We welcome him.

Classes were lifted last Wednesday so that busy students could make preparation for Open House. During this time of activity, Rev. and Mrs. Hoskins contacted several young people in the Edmonton and Redwater districts. Miss Gladys Eby also took this opportunity to attend the Ministerial Convention in Castor which convened October 23-25.

Open House was a time of activity again this year. Miss Eby, Rev. and Mrs. Hoskins received over 800 guests during the course of the evening. Mr. Waldin had organized the young men into efficient guides for the evening.

Mrs. Suder, convener of the evening, supervised the basement activities as the young women served the many guests a very attractive lunch. The dining room was beautifully arranged, and as the guests enjoyed the refreshments musical numbers were presented under the direction of Mr. Richardson and Mr. Wilson of the Music Department. We did appreciate the attendance of the many friends of the College.

The Annual Youth Fellowship Rally was held in the College and the United Missionary Church over Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Waldin, the director, had a very interesting program prepared. On Saturday evening a banquet was served in the prettily decorated dining room where some eighty-five young folk and guests met. On Sunday morning Mr. Glendie, high school teacher in Canadian Nazarene College, brought a helpful message to a large group of young people and visiting friends. This Rally has been most successful.

This past week the Tabernacle on the College grounds has been the scene of much activity. Steam heat has been installed and wall board put on the sides several feet up. This will be greatly appreciated by those who have services in the tabernacle during the year, and even in the chilly evenings of the summer months a little heat may be most desirable. We hope this will make the tabernacle serve more adequately the interests of the church and community.

We want to express our sympathy to the Annett family. We trust that Kenneth, who was injured in the car accident near Red Deer, will soon be quite well again. The accident occurred as the Annett family returned from Castor where Rev. Annett had attended the Ministerial Convention. Jean Frey was an occupant of the car also.

Did you notice the two new chairs in the student lounge? Friends have made this possible, and we understand that two more are being secured for that room. Very soon this lounge will be redecorated, a necessity to be sure.

HUMP-BACKED CATTLE

In the United States there are now more than 110,000 cattle carrying Brahman blood. The strain was introduced into the southern United States because such cattle withstood the hot climate and the insects of the border better than the British breeds, and also produced more beef. Crosses between Brahman and British breeds of cattle are being tried out in temperature climates.

The Brahman cattle are the most numerous of any breed in existence. Their numbers total about 300 million, of which 200 million are in India. Brahman cattle are characterized by the hump and drooping ears.

Notes From the D.A.

(By Hugh McPhail)

I have in my office a supply of the 1951 press bulletin published by the University of Alberta. These contain results of livestock experiments conducted by the Department of Animal Science 1950-51.

The experiments were conducted with steers, sheep, pigs and dairy cattle, and the main purpose of these experiments with beef cattle was to determine whether low grade wheat could be fed economically.

The tests showed the following results as far as profits were concerned:

The steers in the experiment cost $24.13 per cwt. and sold at a margin of $7.84 average and returned the following profit—those on high quality feed $92.69 per head; those on low quality (frozen) wheat and oats $81.72 per head.

Returns For Feed Consumed

Profits credited to grain:

Oats, per bu. $2.70

Barley, per bu. $3.94

Wheat, per bu. $5.69

This press bulletin also deals with experiments in feeding sheep, swine, and with milking dairy cows before calving.

One important item in swine feeding deals with (A.P.F.) Animal Protein Factor, and in sheep feeding with Cobalt.

HOG PRODUCTION

Hog production is on the increase in the prairie provinces. The number of hogs on farms in this area as at June 1, 1951, was 1,981,000. This was an increase of 479,000 over figures for the same date one year before.

The increase in hog production is unquestionably due to the ample feed supplies and the favorable hog barley ratio. On a Winnipeg basis that ratio on September 8th showed that a 200 pound hog, liveweight, grading B1 brought $54.40, while the value of 21 bushels of barley required to feed the hog to maturity was $24.57, leaving a hog feed margin of $29.83.

While hog prices have declined since that date and barley prices have risen, Didsbury is still a substantial margin in between the cost of the barley feed and the sale price of the finished animal.

INCENTIVE FOR SAVING?

The principle for using tax deductions to provide an incentive to greater individual savings meets with approval. But there is some objection to singling out life insurance premiums for such treatment.

Some respondents see such a tax concession being used in higher income brackets merely as a means of tax evasion. Others see the proposal as hardly fair unless other forms of savings are exempted.

In qualified approval, some suggest the deduction be allowed only up to some level of premiums paid so that benefits may be confined to those who need it most. Deduction of premiums as a business expense is also suggested where management or partners are insured for protection of the business.
